

1. PROTECTION OF PERSONAL DATA

Any processing of personal data that San Juan Daily Star carries out using this website is carried out through the application of Organic Law 15/1999, of December 13, on the Protection of Personal Data (LOPD).

2. COLLECTION OF INFORMATION

San Juan Daily Star informs all users of this website that they are not obliged to provide any personal data for the use of this website.

The user can voluntarily provide their data by sending an electronic form included in this website, in which case they explicitly accept the incorporation of their data in the automated files mentioned in said forms, as well as participation in the different services offered on this website.

3. ACCESS TO INFORMATION

Any person who has provided personal data to San Juan Daily Star has the right of access, rectification, cancellation, and opposition with respect to them, as established in Law 15/1999, of December 13, on the Protection of Personal Data.

The user can exercise his right with respect to the data collected that concerns him, through the email sales@sanjuandailystar.com

4. MODIFICATION OF THE PRIVACY POLICY

San Juan Daily Star reserves the right to adapt or modify its privacy policy at its discretion or due to legislative changes

5. COOKIES

Access to this website may involve the use of cookies. Cookies are small amounts of information that are stored in the browser used by each user so that the server remembers certain information that can later be used. This information allows you to be identified as a specific user and allows you to save your personal preferences, as well as technical information such as visits or specific pages you visit.

Those users who do not wish to receive cookies or want to be informed before being stored on their computer, can configure their browser for this purpose.

Most current browsers allow the setting of cookies in 3 different ways:

1. Cookies are never accepted.
2. The browser asks the user if each cookie should be accepted.
3. Cookies are always accepted.

The browser may also include the ability to better specify which cookies should be accepted and which ones should not. Specifically, the user can usually accept any of the following options:

1. Reject cookies from certain domains
2. Reject third party cookies
3. Accept cookies as non-persistent
4. Allow the server to create cookies for a different domain.

6. WEB BEACONS

This website may also contain web beacons (also known as web bugs). Web beacons are usually small one-pixel-by-one-pixel, visible or invisible images placed within the source code of a website's web pages.

Web beacons serve and are used in a similar way to cookies. In addition, web beacons are often used to measure the traffic of users visiting a website and to be able to draw a pattern of the users of a site.

7. THIRD PARTIES

In some cases, we share information about visitors to this site anonymously or in aggregate with third parties, such as advertisers, sponsors, or auditors, for the sole purpose of improving our services. All these processing tasks will be regulated in accordance with legal regulations and all your data protection rights will be respected in accordance with current regulations.

This site measures traffic with different solutions that may use cookies or web beacons to analyze what is happening on our pages.

8. OTHER CONDITIONS OF USE REQUIRED BY THIS WEBSITE ARE:

The user undertakes, except with the express written authorization of traveltogether.eu, to use the information contained on the website, exclusively for their information, and cannot carry out direct or indirect commercial exploitation of the content to which they have access.
